

COULDN'T BAT BURLESON

Barre All-Stars Defeated by Barre A. C., 8 to 3, Saturday

VERMONT FRESHMAN WAS AN ENIGMA

And Most of Scores by Defeated Were Due to Errors

The Barre Athletic club versus the Barre All-Stars were the two teams that were scheduled to play baseball at the Granite City trotting park Saturday afternoon, but in reality it was the Barre A. C. versus the Goddard seminary nine. The two teams put up a good game of baseball, but the Athletics had the advantage over the younger boys and defeated them by a score of 8 to 3. The weather was good for baseball and a crowd numbering around 300 gathered to witness the teams in action. The new benches that have been erected were filled, and several spectators, of whom many were ladies, took advantage of the grandstand and watched the game from there.

Burleson, a young pitcher that the Barre A. C. piloted down from Burlington and who has pitched several games for the freshmen of the University of Vermont this season, was the one sent to the box for Saturday's game. Things looked rather bad for him in the first inning when Connor got a single and Hoernle came up with a double. Witt, the heavy Goddard slugger, was up but he hit to Burleson, who caught Connor easily on home. Two were out and with two on bases the pitcher redeemed himself by striking Hoernle out.

After that things sailed along pretty well for Burleson and it was mostly the fault of costly errors by the team behind him that the All-Stars were able to score three runs in the fourth and fifth innings. During the whole game after the first inning only two safe bingles were hit out against him by the school boys. He had them swinging their heads off part of the time and got 12 strikeouts. His control seemed good and he walked only one man, Morlock getting a free pass in the ninth but failed to get further than second base as the next two men struck out.

On the side of errors both teams were evenly divided, each having three marks fixed to their totals. For the All-Stars Morlock dropped an easy throw, allowing a man second, Keefe let the ball through him in center field once and Connor fumbled an easy fly. L. Tongway did the same in center field and G. Fowles held the ball after stopping it at first and allowed Witt to get safe. He could easily have gotten him, as Stuart was waiting for it, but he became bewildered and held it until too late. Later Witt scored.

Jottings From the Bench.

Umpire Keefe announced that the next game the Barre A. C. had scheduled was with the McElwain A. C. from Manchester, N. H.

The long grass in the outfield would bear cutting.

The pitchers sent from U. V. M. seem to have the right kind of dope for pitching.

That double play pulled off by Keefe was very good. From center field a perfect throw to home plate got Johnson out at least two feet off the base.

The group of spectators seemed rather talkative and at nearly all times kept something going about the players.

The Italian A. C. having had their game cancelled on them at 11:20, it allowed all that were intending to witness that game, as well as the players, to attend the Barre game.

CLEMENCY PLEA FOR LEO M. FRANK

Ex-Governor Brown Says There Must Be No Interference With Georgia Justice.

Atlanta, Ga., June 14.—Arguments for and against Leo M. Frank's application for clemency were made before Gov. Slaton Saturday, and an adjournment was taken until to-day to allow Solicitor General to prepare a brief and present oral arguments against the application. Frank's counsel will be heard in reply.

Joseph M. Brown, who was governor of Georgia when Frank was arrested for the murder of Mary Phagan, was the principle speaker in opposition to clemency, protesting against any overturning of the verdicts and judgments of Georgia juries and courts "on petitions of persons outside the state." In closing, he declared: "If your excellency wishes to invoke lynch law; if you wish to weaken, if not destroy, trial by jury in this state, you can do it by reversing all the courts' decisions in the present case."

William M. Howard, in his opening argument for Frank, said that the condemned man would rely on the record of the chief to convince the governor of his innocence. Gov. Slaton asked many questions brought out at the trial. The governor said he wanted to ascertain how the testimony of James Cooley, a negro, one of the state's principal witnesses, harmonized with that of other witnesses for the state and defense.

DR. DERNBURG GOES HOME.

Kaiser's Unofficial Representative Hap-py, Gracious to America.

New York, June 14.—Dr. Bernhard Dernburg, former German colonial secretary, who has been termed Emperor William's unofficial representative in this country, sailed Saturday for home, aboard the Norwegian steamer Ergens-fjord. He seemed to be in rare good humor, chatted smilingly with friends who came to the pier to wish him a safe voyage, posed for photographers, talked with newspaper men for a few moments, and went to his suite aboard the steamer, which had been turned into a bower of roses by admirers, with the hope, he said, that the war would soon end with honor for all engaged.

For America and his treatment here Dr. Dernburg expressed kindly sentiments. "My feelings for this country are absolutely unchanged," he said. "I have been treated with indiscriminate nicety, except on one occasion, which I do not care to discuss." "What occasion is that, Dr. Dernburg?" a reporter asked. "The Lusitania matter," he said.

Dr. Dernburg and his wife reached the pier in Brooklyn an hour before the vessel was due to sail. As he was leaving his hotel a group of newspaper men asked him to make a statement, but he declined. "I've said everything I've got to say," he told them. As he left the hotel friends and acquaintances shook hands with him and wished him a pleasant voyage.

On his way across the ocean Dr. Dernburg will occupy what is known as "the king's suite," the finest on the steamer, a suite of rooms which every Norwegian vessel is required to maintain for the possible use of the king of Norway. The suite is on the upper deck, and consists of three rooms, luxuriously fitted.

A few minutes before the vessel cast off Dr. Dernburg and his wife were again asked if they cared to make any statement. "Only this," Dr. Dernburg replied, "that I have been much misunderstood in what I have said and written, especially about the Lusitania, but I do not resent it."

GIRL SPY IN CANADA.

Louisa Marksfield, Linguist, Helps German Reservists Over Border.

Toronto, June 14.—Louisa Marksfield, a girl of 19, who has been under arrest at Toronto since May 26, has admitted to the police that she is a German spy. She refused, however, to give the names of any of her confederates. She has been remanded to jail for a week and at the end of that time it is expected application will be made for her imprisonment.

The girl, who claims acquaintances with five or six European languages, states that she was born in Alsace, came to the United States two years ago, and when the war began was living in Buffalo. She crossed over to Niagara Falls, Ont., and made that place her headquarters in assisting German reservists to cross over to Buffalo.

"It was only necessary," she is said to have told the police, "to ask in good English at Niagara Falls for two return tickets to Buffalo, and I with a companion, could reach Buffalo at any time I wished." She is said to have paid visits during the winter to the various military camps and to have made an extensive tour of the Canadian west.

CANCELS INVITATION TO BRYAN

Ex-Secretary of State Told He Is Not Wanted New As 4th of July Orator.

Springfield, Mass., June 14.—Word was dispatched from this city Saturday to William Jennings Bryan, ex-secretary of state, in Washington, asking him not to consider the invitation sent him previously to speak at the July 4th celebration here.

Joseph C. Allen, chairman of the Independence day committee, sent the telegram to Col. Bryan, because he feared the people of Springfield would not receive the speaker as warmly as they would have before the recent cabinet episode.

"Sentiment does not favor Col. Bryan in this city and we thought it best to exclude the ex-secretary from the program on July 4," said Chairman Allen yesterday night. The invitation to take part as the principal speaker was sent to Col. Bryan some time ago and a reply received in which the local committee was tentatively assured he would come.

Some definite arrangements had been made with Col. Bryan the local committee thought it best to request that he no longer consider the invitation or be named as speaking.

TENSION IS LESSENED

Berlin Likes Note and the Feeling Is Quite Friendly

NO BREACH IS EXPECTED NOW

Lack of Expected Sabre-Rattling by Wilson Causes a Change of Sentiment

Washington, D. C., June 14.—Official announcement of the delivery of the American note to the German government, reiterating insistence that submarine warfare conform to the laws of humanity and international law, was received Saturday from Ambassador Gerard at Berlin. The message came at the close of a day marked by a more optimistic feeling in official quarters that the German answer would forestall any possibility of war between the nations and also avoid breach of diplomatic relations.

Apparently there was a general relaxation of tension in the international situation. President Wilson spent part of the day at golf and let it be known that later in the month he planned to take a short vacation at his summer home in Cornish, N. H. No answer to the American rejoinder is expected for ten days at least, and there is conviction at Washington that the Berlin authorities will await the arrival there of Dr. Anton Meyer-Gerhard, official representative of Ambassador Bernstorff, before their answer is framed.

The text of the American note was published Saturday in the Berlin afternoon newspapers. A dispatch from Berlin says that definite statements as to the attitude of the German government with respect to the note are not yet available, but in circles which, while themselves not officially responsible, are often good barometers of the sentiment in responsible quarters, the note seems to have made a distinctly favorable impression and is believed to offer the possibility of negotiations on which a satisfactory settlement might be reached.

The conciliatory note of the note apparently had evoked a responsive attitude at Berlin. Individuals who in the earlier stages of the negotiations displayed stiff-necked adherence to their own views which made discussion almost impossible are now willing to talk of compromise in which the compromise would not be all on one side.

The official viewpoint can probably be correctly appraised only after conferences of the imperial chancellery, Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg, the foreign secretary, Herr von Jagow, and representatives of the army and admiralty, the naval and general staff. The emperor, it is believed, will speak the final word. It is understood that these conferences will begin immediately. The answer will certainly not be drafted, and the lines of the German policy will probably not be definitely decided upon before Dr. Anton Meyer-Gerhard has arrived and made his report.

SUSPICIOUS FIRES ON STEAMER.

British Vessel Not Damaged at Philadelphia.

Philadelphia, June 14.—It was learned Saturday that two fires Friday in one of the holds of the British steamer Penlee, loaded at Philadelphia with oats for France, are suspected of being of incendiary origin. One fire was discovered in the morning and another late in the afternoon. Only a small quantity of oats was burned, and the ship was not damaged. The flames were extinguished by members of the crew and stevedores. Agents of the steamship refused to go into details as to their suspicions regarding the origin of the fires.

MANY GOLF STARS AT BALTUSROL

National Open Championship Promises To Be Interesting Despite Failure of British Stars To Enter.

Although the entry of several of the English golfing stars failed to materialize, the 22d annual national open championship at Baltusrol promises to equal in every way preceding title tournaments. A representative entry list has been filed and the course at Short Hills, N. J., is of a character to test the all-round golfing ability of the leading amateurs and professionals of all sections of the United States. Tuesday and Wednesday will be devoted to qualifying rounds, while on Thursday and Friday the 64 survivors will compete in 72-hole championship play.

This is the second open tournament to be played at Baltusrol, the first having been held on the New Jersey club course in 1903 when Willie Anderson won, starting his string of three consecutive victories which still stands a record. Anderson also won the open at the Myopia Hunt club at Hamilton, Mass., in 1901, giving him a total of four championships. Alec Smith won in 1907 and 1910 and Jerry McDermott in 1911 and 1912. These two players with Anderson are the only ones to repeat in the United States open. Harry Vardon of England came close to duplicating this feat, winning at Wheaton, Ill., in 1900 and being defeated at Brookline, Mass., in 1913 by Francis Ouimet 72 to 77 in the sensational play-off of the tie between Vardon, Edward Ray and Ouimet, after the trio had tied at 304 at the end of four days' play.

With the preliminary season finished and the college crews gathering at Poughkeepsie and New London for the final races of the year, interest in the intercollegiate regattas turns to the probable outcome of the variety aquatic duals at the end of the month. The result of the dual and triangular regattas during April and May point to closely contested four-mile races on both the Thames and Hudson rivers.

Harvard and Yale have had a successful spring on the water, winning all the races in which their variety crews started, although the schedule was not as heavy as in previous years. Harvard won from the naval academy eight at Annapolis on April 24 defeating the mid-dies' first crew in a race of one and five-eighths miles by 12 seconds. On May 22 the Crimson oarsmen won from Cornell in a two-mile race on Cayuga lake by a length.

Yale figured in two preliminary races, defeating Pennsylvania in a snowstorm at Philadelphia April 3, when the Quakers were outwitted over a one and five-sixteenths mile course. The Eli first crew also had the honor of winning the triangular regatta at Princeton on May 15 when both Cornell and Princeton followed the Blue oarsmen at the finish of one and seven-eighths mile race. Less than a month length separated Yale and Cornell, with the Tigers trailing badly. Of the two defeats administered to the Cornell crew the race won by Harvard was more impressive than the victory secured by Yale.

Of the five variety crews entered for the intercollegiate regatta at Poughkeepsie the Leland Stanford eight is the only one undefeated. The Californians won the Pacific coast intercollegiate title, defeating the University of Washington and California crews in a three-mile race April 10. The Stanford time was 15 minutes, 37.4 seconds. Among the eastern crews Pennsylvania has been defeated by Yale, Princeton, Columbia and has won from the navy; Cornell lost to Yale and Harvard defeated Princeton. The Princeton eight and the navy crew will not row in either of the four-mile races scheduled for the closing days of the month.

American yachtmen are still puzzling over an alleged interview with Sir Thomas Lipton in which he was credited with the statement that if it developed that the lines of his Shamrock IV, were known, he would build another challenger. The Lipton yacht arrived here last autumn and when the European war prevented the races for the America's cup, Shamrock IV, was hauled out and housed. The greatest secrecy was maintained during the operation. Huge canvas curtains were dropped over the yacht's sides before she left the water and as soon as she was berthed for the winter the entire yacht was boarded in and a private watchman has always been in charge. If any yachtmen connected with the cup defending group has learned the Shamrock IV's lines he has been extremely successful in keeping that knowledge concealed in his own locker. To date the owners of the Resolute and Vanitie have shown no unbecoming haste toward ordering additional defending yachts for the cup races, which may not be held for several years.

The plans of the Amateur Athletic union for the holding of eastern and middle western track preliminary to sending a team to San Francisco for the junior and senior track and field championships, will be modeled along the lines of the Olympic games trials in the spring of 1912. Nineteen events will be included in the program; the 440-yard hurdle being a new event.

At the eastern competitions, to be held at the Harvard stadium, Cambridge, June 28, the winners of each event will make the team as will some of the second place men. Each member of the team will be allowed about $150 for his expenses to the exposition meet. In addition to these winners several of the larger eastern athletic clubs are planning to send additional men to San Francisco so that the party will number between 30 and 40 contestants.

The western trials are scheduled for Chicago and will probably be held on July 17. The entry conditions will be in a general way similar to those governing the eastern try-outs. The entry fee for each event will be $1 and the expense fund allowed to the winners for the trip to the Pacific coast approximately $100. The question has arisen as to whether an entrant, having failed to qualify in the eastern games, shall be permitted to compete in the western meet. This point, as well as several others, including the dividing line between eastern and western territory will be decided at a special meeting of the A. A. U. Pittsburgh has been named as the probable point of division.

Some remarkable performances were recorded by college athletes in various sectional championship games during the closing days of May. In the intercollegiate games at Philadelphia, Smith of Michigan won both the 100-yard and 220-yard dashes in 10 seconds and 22 seconds respectively, while Meredith of Pennsylvania was a dual winner in the 440-yard and 880-yard in 48 seconds and one minute and 54.2 seconds. In the Missouri valley conference meet Simpson of Missouri university won the 120 yards and 220 yards hurdles and the running broad jump as well. He equaled the world's record for the high hurdles. In the Indiana state intercollegiate games Myers of DePaul was a repeater, winning the mile in four minutes, 24.8 seconds and the half in two minutes, one and four-fifths seconds. The Pacific northwest conference games were held indoors owing to heavy rain which left the Oregon Aggies' track ankle deep with water and mud. The 11th hour shift from cinders to boards did not interfere with the athletes' performances. Kaddarity of Oregon captured the 230 yards in 23.2 seconds and later romped away with the 440 yards in 50.1 seconds. At Gettysburg, Pa., during a dual meet between Bucknell and Gettysburg colleges, Bostock of the latter institution was a triple winner, taking first in the 100 yards in 10 seconds flat; the 220 yards in 23.3 seconds and the broad jump with 23 feet three and one-half inches. Apparently there will be some material available for the American Olympic team should the occasion arise for such a squad during the next few years.

The cancellation of the English Derby brings home to sport followers the world around, the blighting effects of the European war on sporting events of all types. Although the Oxford-Cambridge boat race and track meet, the English Henley, Wimbledon tennis and the golf championships for 1915 were all abandoned, it was thought that the Derby would be run as usual. Even though a substitute race be held, there now exists a break in the chain of Derby races which extended over a period of more than 100 years.

The greatest of all turf classics with its records in attendance, wagering and brilliancy is the biggest event of the English year in sports. To win this race is the desire of every owner or breeder of race horses throughout the world. Fortunes have been spent in breeding, preparing or leasing probable winners and the records show that American turf devotees have had a fair share of success in this direction in recent years.

EQUITABLE STOCK SOLD.

Gen. T. Coleman Du Pont New Majority Owner.

New York, June 14.—Announcement was made Saturday that the majority of the capital stock of the Equitable Life Assurance society of the United States had been sold by the executors of the estate of the late J. P. Morgan to Gen. T. Coleman Du Pont, principal owner of the new Equitable building in lower Broadway. The trust under which the stock has been voted would remain undisturbed, it was said. The announcement was made by William A. Day, president of the society.

The announcement was confirmed in a statement issued by Gen. Du Pont. He also confirmed a suggestion that it was his idea to co-operate with the officers of the society in a plan for complete mutualization, the policyholders acquiring a majority of the board of directors.

The Equitable Life Assurance society was organized in 1859, and will have been in business for 56 years on July 26. The fire of Jan. 9, 1912, drove it from its offices in the old Equitable building. On April 28 of the present year, it reopened its offices at the old stand in the new Equitable building.

Gen. Du Pont until recently was president of the Wilmington (Del.) Powder company, which bears his name. About three years ago he bought the site of the Equitable building and formed a

AT ROVERETO AND MORI

Italians May Have Captured Two Towns Near Trent in Tyrol.

Rome, June 14.—A dispatch from Verona, Italy, says that the Italian advance on Rovereto, in Tyrol, 13 miles southwest of Trent, and Mori, 18 miles southwest of Trent, has pushed so close to both towns that either they have already been taken or are about to be occupied, according to reports from the front.

NATURE, in giving tobacco "body" and cheering properties, has made it stronger than most other plants.

Nature alone—by patient aging—can remove this extra strength or harshness, commonly known as "bite."

That's why you can't take the bite out of tobacco by "processing," without taking out some of the tobacco quality too.

So, after we have selected our pick of the Burley tobacco crop from the rich limestone section of Kentucky we place it in thousands of wooden casks.

These casks are dated and sealed and are not opened under two years. This natural ageing accounts for the distinctive smoothness and mildness of VELVET.

These are plain facts.
